Belt End Locks for Stanchion Products

All VIP belted stanchion products are supplied with a belt end lock. This product feature can be found on the end of the belt.

After the belt has been extended, secure the belt end by simply turning the lock away - as shown in the example. The function of the belt end lock is designed to secure the belt end to another stanchion or wall mount.

Then test to check if the lock is secure by trying to lift up the belt end from the mounted position, it should feel snug when trying to pull up.

Lock all belts after extending the belts into place.

If the belts lock fails contact VIP for an immediate replacement.
